

Fast Back Focus with Matt Funk

Head Horse Position

What is the best place to position your head horse for catching if you're not reaching?

To make a good consistent “catching” run I suggest you have your horse’s nose even with the steer’s hip for the front to back distance. For the width you should keep enough distance between your horse and the steer that a horse could pass through.

